Gus: An Early Intervention Story CD Rom

Gus, an early intervention story is a short film made by Jane Collins. It is the story of Jane's family's journey over five years. In it she describes her emotional responses to discovering her son had developmental problems and her experience of seeking help for him.

The film is a sensitive and inspirational account that is of interest to parents, students and professionals in the early childhood, education, and medical fields. It could be used to introduce parents to ECIA, to support parents receiving services, professional development, staff orientation, exploring outcomes of services, increasing awareness in early childhood agencies and the general community.

The resource consists of a seven minute film and a booklet with more background and ideas to assist people use the resource. This booklet is also a downloadable file on the DVD.

ECIA(VC) thanks Jane Collins and Gus for their generosity in making this film available.
